Oil companies draw criticism

LAKE OZARK, Mo. (AP) — Major oil companies were criticized here Wednesday for allegedly under reporting gas reserves and creating an apparent shortage to get the prices they want.

The same charges were made by several speakers at the annual meeting of the American Public Gas Association, which is made up of municipally and publicly owned gas systems.

Roy V. Collins, president of the APGA, said the big firms and the Nixon administration are trying to deregulate the gas industry by removing controls on the price of gas from the wellhead.

Collins, manager of the Cairo, Ill., public utility commission, said only the major oil companies know the true amount of reserves and they are holding back on production because the Federal Power Commission has raised expectations of higher prices.

"Not only are consumers being deceived, but municipal gas systems are being forced to pay higher and higher prices," Collins said.

During a panel discussion, Bernard Nash, assistant counsel for the Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, said "There is no reason for a shortage today."

He said deregulation will not relieve the shortage, but a lid on prices will keep producers from sitting on reserves.

James T. Halverson, director of the Bureau of Competition of the Federal Trade Commission, agreed with Nash, saying:

"The answer is not to tell them they'll get a raised price, because they'll hold back on it (gas), but to tell them they won't get a raised price and then they'll get it out of the ground."

Taking the opposite view was Stephen A. Wakefield, assistant secretary for energy and materials in the Interior Department. He was scheduled as a panelist, but did not attend the meeting.

He delivered a statement which said there should be no regulation of the natural gas industry because the market "appears relatively competitive."

Wakefield said there is enough domestic gas to meet the shortage and natural market conditions should be allowed to determine the price.

He said the gas industry was more competitive than many which the government has decided not to regulate.

Another panelist, Dr. John Wilson, chief of economic studies of the Federal Power Commission, said the big oil companies dominate the gas industry through "close association and collaboration."

Wilson said this includes pipeline interties, joint ventures, bidding combines and various corporate interlocks, some affecting overseas operations.

White said the FPC had capitulated to the industry.

Nationalization of the petroleum industry, White said, may not be appropriate at this time. But he said the government could create a corporation to operate in the gas industry, similar to the way the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) operates in the energy field.

"A government owned corporation would obviously make cost data available to the public and afford some means of measuring production costs of the privately operated sector," he said.

Sen. Spradling defends criticized ambulance bill

State Sen. A. M. Spradling of Cape Girardeau said Wednesday that the much criticized ambulance bill was needed to bring the state in line with federal standards.

Spradling, a Democrat, spoke at noon to the Sikeston Lions Club. The ambulance bill has been criticized because it is eliminating most of the ambulance service in rural areas.

The bill requires fully equipped ambulances and a driver and trained assistant.

Most ambulance service in rural areas is provided by funeral homes which say they cannot afford the extra expense required under the new bill.

Spradling has been criticized because he sponsored the proposal. But he said the bill is required under the federal highway safety program of 1969, or the state would lose $11 million in federal funds.

The Governor's Committee on Emergency Medical Services, appointed by Gov. Warren Hearnes and continued by Gov. Christopher Bond, supported the bill, Spradling said. Committee members asked him to introduce the bill, he added.

State Sen. A. M. Spradling

Spradling said doctors in Missouri believe the bill could save 400 to 500 lives because patients would get medical care while en route to the hospital.

The new ambulance law will require cities or counties to provide some kind of service, Spradling said.

If residents don't like the law, Spradling said they should write to either of Missouri's U. S. Senators or to 10th District Rep. Bill Burlison. All three men supported the highway safety bill which required passage of the state law, Spradling added.

In refence to another matter, Spradling said the credit crunch is making it difficult for banks and savings and loan associations to issue loans to private individuals.

Missouri has a usury law, Spradling said, which limits interest on loans to private individuals to eight per cent. But the cost of borrowing for the banks is 10¾ per cent, Spradling said.

As a result, savings and loan associations are making loans in other states where they can get higher interest rates.

Spradling said a Senate hearing will be held Oct. 23 and 24 at the Cape Girardeau Holiday Inn on the matter of raising allowable interest rates in the state.

City sent brochure on Associated

The City of Sikeston is one of 77 parties which has received a brochure detailing the gas properties owned by Arkansas - Missouri Power Co. of Blytheville, Ark.

Ark-Mo is under a securities and Exchange Commission order to dispose of its gas properties, including the common stock of its wholly owned subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co.

Dick Inman, director of the Sikeston Board of Municipal Utilities, said today the brochure contained general information that might be used to help the city make its bid for Associated Natural Gas facilities here. Ark-Mo will call for bids when it is ready to sell its property.

Ark-Mo and Associated Natural Gas Co. serve 62,563 natural gas customers in 89 Northeast Arkansas and Southeast Missouri communities.

According to the brochure, the net book value of both distribution systems exceeded $22.5 million. Their combined revenues for 1972 exceeded $12.5 million.

Kansas City man is sentenced to year in county jail for DWI

BENTON — After pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, Robert Noble of Kansas City was sentenced to one year in the county jail Wednesday in Magistrate Court by Judge Lloyd Briggs.

An improper registration charge against Noble was dismissed.

Lindell Wayne Lesch of Perkins, charged with having no valid operator license and improper registration, received a 120- day jail sentence and was fined $75.

In another case, sentencting of Alta Adams of Scott City was deferred until Sept. 26 on a charge of operating a private home providing care for more than three individuals without a license.

Trial was set on Oct. 3 for Frank Eugene Hunsperger of Painton on a charge of driving while license was revoked.

A driving while intoxicated charge against Gerald Wayne Simpson of Chaffee was set for trial on Oct. 3.

Dennis Leo Glastetter, 17, of Benton, Shannon Steger, 20, of Chaffee and Larry Keith Urhahn, 17, of Benton each received a 30 - day suspended jail sentence and was placed on one- year probation on a charge of underage possession of intoxicating liquor. A condition of their probation requires them to pick up trach along county roads and pay court costs.

A charge against Joe Floyd Simpson of Vanduser of filing a false affadavit to obtain an operator license was continued to Oct. 10.

A charge against Rocky Schultz of entering the premises of Sam Gosche without his permission was taken under advisement until Sept. 26.

A trespassing charge against Ralph Rhodes was continued until Sept. 26.

Other court action and fines included:

Larry Ray White of Benton, no operator license, 30 day probation dismissed; Jane Ellen Messmer of Chaffee, improper registration, trial set Oct. 3; Glen Deal of Sikeston, driving while license revoked, dismissed on payment of costs; Mary Geneva Hulshof of Oran, careless and imprudent driving, $5.

Mexicans held for witnesses

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Federal authorities have requested the detention of 25 Mexican aliens as possible witnesses in the trial of Octavio Ortiz-Alvarez next month.

Ortiz-Alvarez, 39, goes to trial Oct. 29 in U.S. District Court at Cape Girardeau on charges of transporting illegal aliens.

The Orange Grove, Texas, man was identified as being the driver of a truck that crashed Aug. 1 near Sikeston, Mo., killing 10 Mexican farm workers. Twelve of the surviving 37 aliens were originally scheduled to testify at the trial while the remaining 25 were to be returned to Mexico.

Mike Nolan, officer in charge of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service in St. Louis said Wednesday that the decision to keep all of the aliens in this country for the trial was based on a recent appeals court decision in California. In that case, he said, a conviction was overturned after the defense contended that not all witnesses were available for interviews.

7 hurt in accidents

Two area traffic accidents Wednesday and one early today resulted in injuries to seven persons, according to the highway patrol, and the identity of the second victim of a two- fatality crash early Wednesday near Doniphan has been established.

The victim, whose identity was not reported in early accounts, has been identified as James O. Talley, 23, of Poplar Bluff. Another occupant of the car, Richard L. Webb, 19, of Flat River was also killed.

The accident occurred about 2 a.m. Wednesday when their car struck a bridge abutment on Highway 160 one mile east of Doniphan.

The bodies were taken to Edwards Funeral Home in Doniphan.

In an accident at 2 p.m. Wednesday one mile south of Oran on a gravel road, a northbound car driven by Linda Matinez, 19, of Sikeston skidded off the road and struck a tree.

Miss Martinez received a head injury and bruises of the body. A passenger, San Juanita Sauceda, 17, of Oran sustained a possible fractured left leg and head injury. Both were taken to the Chaffee General Hospital.

Four persons were injured in a two- vehicle accident at 7:45 a.m. Wednesday on Route C in Madison County one and one- half miles east of Fredericktown.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Richard Lee Bemis, 49, of Fredericktown and a pickup truck driven by William James Matthews, 17, of Fredericktown collided as the Matthews vehicle attempted a left turn.

Bemis received a cut on the mouth and Matthews sustained cuts of the left knee and mouth.

A passenger in the truck, Paul Robert Schultz, 16, of Fredericktown, received a head injury and cut on the right knee. Another Passenger, Mark Wayne Carpenter, 17, of Fredericktown, received cuts and bruises and a possible neck injury. All four were treated at Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Terry Ray Miller, 20, of Marquand received cuts on the right hand when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and ran his truck off the road, down an embankment and struck a tree.

The accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. today on Route F four and one- half miles northwest of Marquand.

Many civic organizations are taken for granted.

A leader in this respect is the Chamber of Commerce. In too many minds it's just something that's there and it's supposed to help keep the community wheels turning. Some do not even bother to even lend minimal support to the community organization by joining and paying dues.

As a matter of fact it's a wonder it functions at all in this atmosphere. It joins government as the wonder of modern America. The wonder is that it works so well in the miasma of indifference. The encouraging thing is that the attitude here toward the Chamber of Commerce is much better than it was not many years ago. More people are involved and actively so. More people are realizing, when they say "why don't they do something," that the "they" is actually themselves.

Even so, the message needs to reach even more citizens of Sikeston. If even a majority learn it there's no goal too grand that this community couldn't accomplish. The proof is all around us if our eyes are open. Because there has been vast accomplishment here with only a relative handful working toward community goals that are the goals of Sikeston's Chamber of Commerce.

We understand that quite a few people are behind with their dues, and this is not as it should be.

Thursday evening, September 13, we had the pleasure and privilege of going out to see the Collins Brothers newest and most modern health care facility. It looks to me like, of course, I hope I never have to be placed in one, but if I ever get to where I lack any facilities, that is where I hope my children will take me, because their administrator and physical therapist looked alright to me, Everything I saw was fine, of course, I would need a wider bed on account of the tossing and turning, but I guess they'd let me bring it or else let me get one. Anybody who hasn't been out and been through there ought to go out and go through because it is really a needed thing in Sikeston.

TRAFFIC SAFER,
BUT NOT SAFER

The National Safety Council reports that the U. S. traffic death rate reached the lowest point in the nation's history during May, June and July.

NSC figures projected to the end of 1973 show a rate of 4.4 traffic deaths for every 100 million vehicle miles traveled. By comparison, the 1947 rate was 8.82 and the 1938 rate was 12.02 deaths per 100 million miles.

Yet here's the paradox: Because of the increase in the number of motor vehicles on the highways and the number of miles they have driven, even as the death rates goes down the absolute number of deaths continues to go up.

Traffic fatalities for the first six months of 1973 totaled 26,500 — the highest number ever recorded for the first half of any year in the history of the United States, says the council.

There's some bright news, however. During July, the last month for which figures are available, traffic deaths were 4 per cent below the July, 1972, figure.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks an office manager gets tired of hearing:

"The less real authority a man has, the more it goes to his head."

"The only day Pete gets to work on time himself is Mondays, just so he can report half the office is late."

"Pete likes to think of himself as a straw boss, but he's really only a straw dummy."

"Yeah, he has the title of office manager. But all that means is that he was a promising office boy 40 years ago who managed to work his way to the bottom."

"If he kept his brain as busy as he does his hands when he is near one of the girls, he'd have been president of the firm a long time ago."

"Pete, will you write me out a requisition for a new pencil? I've had this one for two years, and it's beginning to show a little wear and tear."

"Well, after 40 years here, Pete, do you still have much hope of being made a junior executive?"

"One of his duties is to give intelligence tests to new applicants. But somebody in the personnel department has to grade the papers, because Pete himself can't understand the questions, let alone tell the right answers."

"The big moment of Pete's year is when the boss drops by the office Christmas party, and Pete gets to yell out, 'All right, kids, how about three cheers and a tiger for the fine fellow who pays the bills — and let's make them real loud and clear!'"

"He's a terror in the office, but I hear that at home his wife makes him serve her breakfast in bed and do all the dishes."

"By ordering smaller paper towels for the office washrooms, Pete has saved enough money since January to buy the executive vice president a dozen boxes of golf balls."

"The only real reason the big shots keep Pete around is so that he can tell them what the rest of the staff is saying about them behind their backs."

"What are you going to do whem you retire, Pete? Have you thought of starting a second career by becoming a sheepherder?"

"Stick with Me!"

'... SEE OURSELVES AS OTHERS SEE US'

To the Russians, the world is a circle divided into two halves, the capitalist camp and the Soviet camp.

The Chinese see the world as a sandwich, with the Soviets and the Americans representing the slices of bread which are putting the squeeze on the other socialist and industrial nations of the world.

These images are suggested by German political scientist Dr. Klaus Mehnert, who is currently senior fellow at the School for International Relations at Columbia University.

Europe and Japan have a still different view of the world, he told delegates to the recent 14th annual conference, of the Regional Council for International Education, held at the University of Akron.

Both Europeans and Japanese see the world as four lines converging to a point either at Euorpe or Japan, depending upon whether the viewer is European or Japanese.

And what is the U. S. view? The United States, says Mehnert, sees the world basically as two triangles, a large one and a small one.

The three corners of the large triangle represent the United States, the Soviet Union and China. At the corners of the small triangle are Japan, Europe and, again, the United States.

In order for the United States to be on both triangles, one corner of the small and one corner of the large triangles meet. This symbolizes that the United States is the only power communicating with all other camps.

Hemispheres, sandwiches, lines, triangles, corners, schmorners.

If the professor were to ask the common man, he might find still another view of the world. This fractious globe is really a Yo-Yo bobbing up and down at the command of those who like to think they've got it by a string.

FORSOOTH, NOW 'TIS A BOW AND ARROW TAX

In a 20th century setting, the fabled Sheriff of Nottingham could have tied Robin Hood and his men into bowknots, that is, if the Sheriff joined the Internal Revenue Service, Tax Foundation Inc., points out.

For beginning next year, July 1, 1974, the IRS is to start collecting an 11 per cent manufacturer's excise tax on bows and arrows.

Portions of this collection will go to support Federally - operated wildlife restoration projects. Portions of other excise levies on firearms, shells, cartridges, and revolvers have been funneled into the restoration projects for years.

Bows and annows for children will not be affected since the law says the taxable bows have to have a 10 - pound draw, and arrows be 18 inches or longer.

Bows and arrows made by reservation Indians are not targets of this new ruling.

In fiscal 1972, Federal excise taxes on firearms brought in $36 million; on pistols and revolvers, $7.5 million.

THEY REALLY DIG IT

In an age of the tube, it was pleasant to learn that young people, between 14 and 25, use the newspapers for news, information and advertising leads as much as their elders.

The Bureau of Advertising has just completed a new study of media habits and found that 73% read one or more newspapers on the average weekday, compared with 78% of all adults. These same young people spend almost as much time as adults with each newspaper and absorb advertising as well as editorial content.

Dr. Leo Bogart, executive vice- president and general manager of the Bureau, said that the steady reaffirmed that the most highly educated, the doers and the achievers have always shown the greatest orientation to print.

THE MS. MOVEMENT CRIES OUT AGAIN

These are parlous times for newspapermen. Not only are reporters and publishers under pressure to reveal their sources or suppress information they believe the public is entitled to, they are feeling the impact of changes which society as a whole is experiencing.

This is particularly true in the field of women's liberation, and the attack is coming as much from within the ranks of journalism as without.

Several female staffers of the Boston Globe, for instance, recently wrote a letter to their editor charging the paper with denigrating women in both its editorial and advertising coverage.

They referred, among other things, to "the irrelevant use of the women's movement for a laugh grabber," "the use of women in photos for sex interest," "the extraneous insults accorded women either generally or as wives, mothers-in-law, etc.," "the use of 'girl' for 'woman,'" and "advertisements in paper the clearly exploit women as sex objects."

Writing in Editor & Publisher, the newspapers' news magazine, Gena Corea noted a recent wire service story which described the presdient - elect of the American Association of Women Dentists as "petite and perky, blonde and beautiful, fragile and feminine."

To male reporters, a woman's marital status is considered relevant, though a man's is not, she charges. "Thus one reporter worte of Dita Beard, the lobbyist in he ITT affair, as "the 53-year-old divorcee."

"I have yet to read, 'Henry Kissinger, the 48-year- old divorcee who advises President Nixon ...," says Miss Corea.

Women are not only underrepresented on newspaper staffs but in their columns as well.

Citing a study made last summer of the frequency with which women's accomplishments are reported, she says, "When only seven per cent of newsmakers are women, we can conclude either that men do the important things in the world and/or that it is men who decide what the important things are."

To all of which charges, male newspapermen can only plead no contest and throw themselves on the mercy of the court of public opinion.

The women are right, of course. A woman's looks, marital status, number of children or relationship with her husband should have no place in a story in which none of these things is a relevant factor.

And because they are right, their cause will eventually triumph. Eventually "male chauvinist" reporters will learn to look at women simply as persons, and if they note a curve or tress or flashing eye, they will keep such information to themselves.

Whether the male population at large can ever be trained to look at women simply as persons, or whether many women themselves desire such an eventuality is something else.

CAPIT ALISTIC BREADBASKET

It now turns out that only the U. S. can produce the agricultural abundance that will give Soviet citizens the higher food production that Soviet leaders have promised. It is reported, even U. S. help may fall short of staving off a shortage in Russian food supplies. It is said that the Soviet Union is suffering the worst farm crisis since 1963. The grain harvest is likely to fall 30 million tons short of planned production. This means less bread, less feed for livestock and less meat.

Ironically, American agriculture is the epitome of capitalism. U. S. farmers are a working demonstration of the highest principles of the capitalistic society. They are independent, and they have their own homes and land. Their success hinges upon private initiative in the application of the latest agricultural techniques flowing from the halls of science, industry and chemical laboratories. All of these are attributes of a democratic society, where freedom of action and freedom of inquiry flourish to the maximum extent.

This capitalistic system — the antithesis of communism - damned abroad and scorned at home by pseudo intellectuals has now become the world's breadbasket. And the American farmer, the most capitalistic of all capitalists, must bear the brunt of the burden of feeding a good share of the world.

Another school year is beginning and children will be returning to the classroom in great numbers. The safety of these youngsters calls for three - fold help, namely from parents, motorists and the children themselves.

"Parents should understand traffic regulations and control measures and make sure their children also understand them," noted Colonel Sam S. Smith, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol. "Parents, as pedestrians, should always set a good example for children. This includes crossing streets only at intersections or designated crosswalks, waiting for traffic signals and looking both ways before crossing a street. Parents should also instill in their children the attitude that safety rules must be given the same respect and obedience as other rules of conduct learned at home and in school."

Smith stated that motorists should be especially alert in school areas for children. The driver must keep in mind that children are unpredictable and that he, the motorist, must think for them in traffic.

"Children have a responsibility for their own safety," the Colonel continued. "They should obey all traffic officers, school patrols, traffic signs and signals. They must practice the rules learned in school and at home about crossing streets and playing in unsafe areas.

"The saving of young lives requires the help of everyone," Smith concluded. "It calls for training and good example by parents, alertness by drivers and caution on the part of the school children themselves."

HONESTY IN PUBLIC OFFICE

Controversy over the integrity of high public officials is abundant in the land today and it only serves to confuse the citizenry. These are times when we must rely on the judiciary to sort out fact from fiction. It will not be an easy job for the judges and the juries but it is a task they must discharge. In the meantime, we as citizens can-- and must-- keep ourselves abreast of what is going on, and in the next elections we shall become the judge and jury when we cast our votes. It is to be hoped that the evidence on national candidates shall be clear at that time and that we can make constructive decisions.

There is evidence now of misconduct in high offices. All the evidence is not in, but most of it should be by a year from now. In the meantime, court cases and Congressional decisions shall have been reached. These decisions should provide guidance in the course of our national affairs. The stalemate on the Washington scene cannot go on forever. The nation must move forward in many fields. The economy cannot await the decisions of those sitting in judgment of scandals.

If we as a nation succumb to economic and social chaos, the decisions of those addressing themseives to scandal will be immaterial. Economic controls and grain deals with communist nations should be ruled out now, eigher by the Administration or the Congress. Lift the controls so that the law of supply and demand can regulate use, cut waste, and increase production. All citizens should join hands to get those controls removed now. The scandals can be dealt with by the courts in orderly procedure. HLH

Mafia Is Warned! Godfathers Told 'Hell Will Pay' If Mobs Don't Stop Threatening FBI Agents

WASHINGTON — Word has gone out quietly to the Mafia's Godfathers -- hell has no fury like FBI agents threatened by restless Cosa Nostra capos and buttonmen.

The warning was anything but loudly melodramatic. But Mafia dons everywhere have been told firmly to discipline their impatient and reckless young Turks.

The older dons were advised by "the Bureau" to counsel caution inside their "families." This virtually unprecedented series of contacts between key FBI men and the members of, and aspirants to, the underworld's National Commission came recently when it became apparent the younger Mafia moneymakers were investigating the investigators.

FBI agents assigned to organized crime units have been threatened by new generation Cosa Nostra cadres. Mobsters have begun probing the private lives, the residences and the routine social activity of Bureau men.

The Mafia muscle men have been alarmed by the crunch in which the Cosa Nostra has found itself -- ground in between the Bureau, the 18 anti- organized crime coordinated Justice Dept. strike forces, the successful drive against National Commission dons, the indictment of heads of some Cosa Nostra units, the imprisonment of others, the fantastic success of electronic surveillance (bugging), and the resulting curtailment of income which hasn't been seeping down to the troops in the dollar deluges to which they've become accustomed.

The FBI specialists have been concentrating on the moneymakers – and not on drawing charts or tracing retirees or following those who've moved to the sunny shores of Mediterranean isles.

Such powerful men as the so- called Colombo band's John (Sonny) Franzese (up for 50 years) and Carmine (the Snake) Persico are now in Atlanta penitentiary though they still are influential capos in their crowd. Others are fugitives -- such as Joe Yacovelli, who was to succeed the comatose, bullet- ridden Joe Colombi, Jr.

So effective have been the FBI probes and the anti- crime strike forces (whose 18 chiefs will meet soon for a two- day strategy session here) that some Mafia families now actually don't have top bosses.

The Mafia moneymakers turned edgy. They have watched their leaders being picked off and jailed. They have seen their income in narcotics, labor rackets, hijacking, loan sharking, gambling and industrial -- especially building and construction trades -- extortion dry up slowly.

And they've gotten word of waves of arrests coming later this fall. Virtually all insiders know that the acting boss of one Mafia unit will be picked up in a few months.

And that the new generation of U. S. attorneys are untouchable, unbribable. It is not like the day 20 years ago when Tommy (Three Fingers Brown) Luchese was able to infiltrate one of his men in a federal attorney's office or name a police commissioner.

This new wave of arrests will continue to cut deeply into all rackets – be they trucking, gambling or big city looting.

So the Mafia troops decided to hit directly at the FBI agents. The words of warning which then went out to the Godfathers were soft- spoken but tough.

In effect, the warning to the remaining bosses said: Keep your nervous buttonmen under control. If the hoods don't stop attempting to bully the agents, they "haven't ever seen what could happen to the underworld." Don't consider moving against "our agents." Otherwise it would seem as though the Justice Dept., the FBI and all law enforcement agencies haven't even noticed the mob before.

The mob will know what it means for "us to be tough." There would be direct action -- a search for angles never before used.

"The FBI is now geared up," said one topside Justice Dept. official. "Watch for its action this fall. We won't tolerate pressure on agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Cosa Nostra hotheads had better cool off. We are putting out word strongly. We're telling them that these men are doing their job. They're to be respected. It's a rough game but there are certain things which aren't done and, I repeat, won't be tolerated.

"If this word doesn't cool them off there will be hell to pay."

But the old dons may not be able to contain their tough Turks, so young they have only seen old movie versions of the late Edward G. Robinson playing someone called Al Capone and don't really know the FBI in full action. They have no first-hand experience of FBI squads on the move. They read of "old" Chicago in their paperback novels.

But they'll soon learn that truth is stranger and tougher than fiction -- and the movies.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Nixon's Lawyers Worked for Free

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's personal attorneys, Herbert Kalmbach and Frank De Marco Jr., have never billed him for handling his complex real estate transactions, income taxes and other legal problems.

The Kalmbach, De Marco law firm in Newport Beach, Calif., has handled Nixon's personal affairs since he moved into the White House. Kalmbach, for example, personally supervised the purchase and renovation of the San Clemente estate. The complicated financial details were worked out by De Marco, who also prepared the President's income tax returns.

Sources close to the President tell us that Kalmbach and De Marco never charged him for their services. They billed him only for out- of-pocket expenses, such as the tax accountant's charges, which the President has paid.

The two California attorneys were "proud," said our sources, to serve the President. The same sources denied rumors that the President, in return for free legal services, sent clients to the law firm. Neither Kalmbach nor De Marco could be reached for comment.

FOOTNOTE: President Nixon was able to purchase the $1.4 million San Clemente estate eith a down payment of less than $100,000 of his own money. Most of the downpayment came out of a $625,000 loan from aerosol king Robert Abplanalp, who later tore up the note in return for title to the land around the presidential retreat.

The interest payments and real estate taxes on the President's California and Florida homes, plus a massive deduction for donating his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, has made it possible for him to avoid the high income taxes he otherwise would have been soaked. Because of his low tax, the Internal Revenue Service audited his returns for 1971 and 1972 but made no additional charges.

TERROR TRAINING: Senator James Abourezk, D-S.D., fears the Agency for International Development (AID) may be teaching terror techniques to Latin American and other foreign police for use against their citizens.

In a letter to AID Public Safety head Lauren Goin, Abourezk has discreetly asked whether "booby trap" construction and similar courses are taught to visiting police officials by the U.S.-sponsored International Police Academy, as was suggested in the movie "State of Siege."

Abourezk's concern is not just based on movie tales. One of his aides has developed information from inside AID indicating that a terror school is run by AID at an isolated camp in Texas, and that both the CIA and U.S. Army may be involved. Abourezk has submitted bills to prohibit aid to foreign police and to block financial assistance to lands with political prisoners.

BUDGET BATTLE: Congress has largely abdicated its constitutional power over the purse. The committee system simply is inadequate to deal with the mammoth and complicated federal budget.

In order to restore its fiscal authority, Congress is now considering the creation of a joint committee on the budget. This would consolidate the money- authorizing functions into a more wieldy, more powerful unit.

The establishment of such a committee, however, would change many traditional power centers on Capitol Hill. This was reflected in a secret meeting of the House Democratic Steering Committee, which considered the proposal. The Democratic leaders were unable to reach any agreement on the details of the new committee.

But agreement or no agreement, the House Rules Committee is going ahead with the idea.

BE-WARE: Representative John Ware, R-Pa., makes no bones about his conflicts of interest. The energetic Ware is chairman of American Water Works and owns 975,000 shares in the company. He is president of Penn Fuel Gas and chairman of North Penn Gas. He also directs a foundation which owns almost a half-million shares of the water works.

At the same time, he is a ranking member of the House Commerce Committee whose work touches every one of these enterprises. Ware, at least, is no hypocrite. His interests are laid out in company prospectuses and are even indicated in the Congressional Directory.

Ware told us he feels he can don the twin hats of legislator and legislated by not voting on bills directly affecting his companies.

Personnel changes in Corrections

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Several personnel changes in the state Corrections Department were announced today by George Camp, the new corrections director.

William G. Miller, whom Camp succeeded as corrections director in July, has agreed to become deputy director.

Camp announced the resignation of Dr. Robert J. Nemer, the state prison doctor; the retirement of Donald William Bunker, a 31-year department veteran who is director of the department's division of classification and assignment; and the addition of Jerry J. Bolin, 30, Moberly.

Miller, 52, joined the corrections department in 1957 as director of the prison farms. He was named corrections director in January of 1972.

Miller has been acting deputy director of the department since Camp's appointment by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Ambulance drivers need no license, says Danforth

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Ambulance drivers and attendants are not required to be licensed as mobile emergency medical technicians under a new ambulance law, an attorney general's opinion said Wednesday.

The law becomes effective July 1, 1974, and the state health director has no authority to issue licenses to attendants, drivers or mobile emergency technicians until then, the opinion said.

The only parts of the bill going into effect Sept. 28 of this year are two sections defining the mobile emergency technicians, attendants and attendant-drivers.

The bill requires training for all three persons, but does not require each ambulance to have a mobile emergency technician. It allows hospitals to have them and allows them to make ambulance calls.

The technician is a type of paramedic who can give first aid and give drugs or injections and operate equipment such as a stomach pump if he has permission of a doctor.

Rep. Hardin C. Cox, D-Rock Port, asked the attorney general about the effective date and the licensing requirements.

Construction begins in Parma

PARMA — The concrete floor has been poured and walls are beginning to rise on the $129,100 community building for the City of Parma.

The building will be approximately 9,100 square feet, will contain a fully equipped kitchen, 21 by 21 feet, and will have an assembly room that can be partitioned into three rooms. The partitions will be installed at a later date.

Five rooms of various sizes will be used for administrative purposes and programs that are to be channeled into the building.

The citizens of Parma gave approval for construction of the building in April 1972 when they voted for a general obligation bond that would also give them a new fire truck and a new water treatment plant.

Parma received a Housing Urban Development grant of $124,886 and will provide $20,032 in kind by furnishing the land, water, sewage disposal and blacktopping. Construction started in August of this year and is expected to be completed in August 1974.

Inmate killed by cellmate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — An inmate from St. Louis was killed in his state prison cell Wednesday night, Warden Harold R. Swenson said today.

It was the third inmate killing at the prison this year.

Swenson said Joseph Price was stabbed by his cellmate with part of a long pair of shears. The weapon was recovered and the state highway patrol was investigating.

The cellmate was not identified. Swenson gave no reason for the attack.

Price came to the prison in May of 1967, serving a life sentence from St. Louis on a murder conviction.

Kiwanis change Ladies Night

Sikeston Kiwanis Club members voted to change their Ladies Night meeting to Oct. 2 from Sept. 27 at Tuesday night's meeting at Ramada Inn. The women will be treated to dinner at Reelfoot Lake near Tiptonville, Tenn.

Tom Lambert presided in the absence of president Claude Benney.

Guests of the club were John David of Sikeston and Alton McCann of Cape Girardeau, a former resident of Sikeston. Dr. Dale Hill was introduced as a new member

Farmer pleads not guilty to charge

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Horace Phelan Cash of Wilson Wednesday pleaded not guilty in federal district court here to two counts of causing the interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle.

He is accused of causing two John Deere tractors, valued at more than $25,000, to be transported from Wilson to Sikeston, Mo., according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Little Rock.

The tractors, according to an FBI spokesman, had been stolen from an implement company at Blytheville in January.

Cash, indicted earlier this month, is free on $5,000 bond. Federal Judge G. Thomas Eisele said he would set a trial date later.

Cash is represented by W. R. Hodge of Little Rock.

The 39- year- old Cash farms several hundred acres of land on Island 35, which is part of Tipton County, Tenn. He also owns and operates a night club on the island, the FBI said.

Cash also has been charged with first- degree murder in connection with the July 7 shooting death of Mrs. Marcella Fowler, 22, of Wilson, according to Tipton County Sheriff Preston Shankle.

Cash was released on $10,000 bond pending a July 21 hearing, where he was bound over to the November term of the Tipton County Grand Jury.

Cash told Shankle he and Mrs. Fowler had an argument and she started walking down a road on the island. Cash said he drove up beside her in his pickup truck and told her to get in. He said when Mrs. Fowler started into the truck she reached for a .38- caliber pistol lying in the truck seat.

Cash said that he also reached for the gun and it discharged accidentally.

A bullet struck her above the pelvis and she was pronounced dead at Osceola Memorial Hospital.

9 treated for injuries

Nine accident patients were treated Wednesday in the emergency room at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Carroll Parker, 23, St. Charles, got foreign particles in left eye at work; Ollie Hicks, 37, Essex, cut head at work; James Roth, 32, Sikeston, sprained right wrist in fall while sky diving.

Club honors officers

PORTAGEVILLE — Thirteen of the 25 past presidents of Portageville Garden Club were present Thursday when they were honored for their services and contributions to the club since it was organized 36 years ago.

Mrs. L. B. Painter Jr., president, presided and gave a review of the club's history, activities and accomplishments. Following a report of their term in office, each of the honorees was presented a potted dried floral arrangement.

Past presidents attending and the years they held office included: Mrs. Frank DeGuire of Fredericktown, 1938-41 and 1945-46; Mrs. Ben Segal, 1944; Mrs. W. C. Thompson Sr., 1947; Mrs. C. A. Dacres, 1950; Mrs. John Bailey, 1952; Mrs. J. H. Workman Sr., 1956-58 and 1970; Mrs. Joe DeLisle, 1959; Mrs. Mary DeLisle, 1960; Mrs. Douglas Riddick, 1963; Mrs. Tom Barnes, 1964; Mrs. Leonard Hand, 1968; Mrs. Gene Daugherty, 1969; and Mrs. George Pfenninghausen, 1971-72.

Five of the club's past presidents who are deceased and their terms in office are: Mrs. H. R. Milem, 1935 and 1965; Mrs. A. A. Reeder, 1949; Mrs. Matilda Cavanaugh, 1951 and January and February 1970; Mrs. T. A. Lee, 1953-54; and Mrs. Charles Pikey Sr., 1955.

Past presidents unable to attend were Mrs. R. C. Currie, 1942; Mrs. Wayne DeLisle, 1943; Mrs. W. C. Kroeger, 1948; Mrs. James Girvin, 1961; Mrs. Vincent Recker, 1962; Mrs. Bernard Recker, 1966; and Mrs. J. L. LaFerney, 1967.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Gene Daugherty of Route One. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Mrs. L. C. Keith and Mrs. Kathryn Kinnard.

Risco happenings

RISCO -- Mrs. Ellen Speight of Lilbourn has been employed as Risco High School secretary as a replacement for Mrs. Robin LaFont.

Risco High School cheerleaders will sell electric light bulbs as a money-raising project for new uniforms and equipment this year.

Light bulbs will be available from any of the 12 cheerleaders in sizes of 100, 75, 60 watts. Each package contains two bulbs.

High school students recently named as class representatives to the Tigerama Staff include Danny Byrd, Myra Keaster, Doris Wood and David Crouthers, seniors: Stanley Miller, Debbie Stone, Nancy Cummins and Barbara McNeely, juniors; Janet Keaster, Kevin Carlisle, Phil Swiney, David May and Paulette Vincent, sophomores; Vanessa Gibbs, Judy McNeely and Harry Gremore, freshmen.

The Risco Civic Improvement Club will hold its annual harvest supper Friday at the club building. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and will include baked ham, chicken and dressing and all the trimmings.

The Cystic Fibrosis fund chairman for Risco, Mrs. Delmar McNeely, announced that $40 was collected in the house-to-house campaign.

She was assisted by missionary groups of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Mike McGee was hostess Thursday for the September meeting of the Risco Rural Independent Club.

A financial report was made by the treasurer Mrs. Floyd Smelser, and a "thought for the day" was given by Mrs. P.C. Crouthers. The scheduled book auction was postponed until November. The door prize was presented to Mrs. Raymond May.

A program on budgeting was given by Mrs. Paul Cummins Sr., Mrs. Tom Pearson, Mrs Crouthers and Mrs. Don Landers.

During the social period refreshments were served. The group dismissed following an invitation from Mrs. Smelser to attend the Nov. 8 dinner meeting at her home.

Past presidents honored by garden club

Miss Dowling bride of Steven Ruffin

Mr. and Mrs. Steven A. Ruffin

Miss Deborah Jean Dowling and Steven A. Ruffin were united in marriage at 6 p.m. Aug. 24 in First Baptist Church by the Rev. Clyde L. Riddle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Dowling of Sikeston, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ruffin of Oran.

The church was decorated with two baskets of white gladiolis and 28 white tapers entwined with greenery.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of white satapeau and silk floss lace trim. A band of lace, traced with a self-fabric ruffle, encircled the high neckline and wrists of the long fitted sleeves. Lace motifs also adorned the lower portion of the A-line silhouette skirt, and the center of the attached chapel-length train. Matching lace encircled the waistline and bordered the hemline of the gown and train. Traditional bridal buttons were used on the cuffs and back closing of the gown.

Her three-tiered bouffant veil of imported illusion was held secure by a profile cap of matching lace topped with a self-fabric bow. The bow was trimmed with lace florettes, and she carried a nosegay of white tuberoses centered with a white cymbidium orchid and streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Sherry Mills was maid of honor. Daniel Dowling, brother of the bride, was candlelighter. Sandra Denise Dowling, sister of the bride, presided at the guestbook.

Attending the groom as best man was Terry Irwin of Oran.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall, where Miss Sarahlyn Ruffin of Oran, sister of the groom, and Miss Diane Martin and Mrs. Larry Kinsey of Sikeston served.

The couple will make their home in Cape Girardeau.

Couple to wed Friday

NOTICE
Wedding information must be submitted to The Daily Standard within three weeks after the ceremony. Weddings one month old or older will NOT be run.

EAST PRAIRIE — Joyce Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cledith Hampton of East Prairie, and Freddie Brackus of Charleston, W. Va., son of Mrs. Lucille Brackus of California, will be married Friday in Charleston by the Rev. Buddy Brack.

Brackus is a self-employed truck driver, and Miss Hampton is employed at National Lock Co. in Sikeston.

Christina Speakman christened

Christina Marie Speakman, three-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Speakman of 515 E. Kathleen, was christened by the Rev. Robert Schumacher on Sept. 9 at 1 p.m. in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church.

A reception followed at the home of the parents.

Attending were:

Maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ernst, maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Zita Schindler, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schindler, Miss Debbie Ernst, Miss Vickie Schindler and Miss Jackie Schindler, all of Morehouse.

Also, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Speakman, and Tommy Speakman and Billy Branum of Sikeston; Clarence Myer of St. Genevieve; Patrick McCain of Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Leroy Dixon of West Memphis, Ark.; and Mr. and Mrs. Olein Fritz of St. Louis.

Rhythm band to perform Friday

Poplar Bluff Senior Citizens' Rhythm Band will entertain at 2 p.m. Friday at the Heritage House, 305 Cresap St.

Mrs. Clestyel W. Hahn, piano player for the group, is a former music teacher and has organized many bands.

Since its formation in November 1971, the group has performed before various civic organizations, political gatherings, senior citizen centers and on the KFVS-TV Channel 12 Breakfast Show in Cape Girardeau.

Couple to celebrate 40 years

Mr. and Mrs. Lanus L. Propst, 857 Cambridge Drive, will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday with an open house from 6 to 9 p.m. at the home of their son, Robert Propst, at 913 Crescent.

Hosts for the occasion will be the families of their son and daughter, Mrs. Arnold (Myra) Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanus L. Propst

Mrs. Bricker guest of club

Mrs. Amy Bricker was special guest Sept. 10 at a salad luncheon given by Welcome Wagon Club at the North Acres Recreation Association swimming pool. Mrs. Bricker recently moved to Sikeston from Boston, Mass., and her husband James is employed by Potlatch Forest Industries. Other guests were Mrs. Jane Morgan, Mrs. Marlene Kruger and Mrs. Patty Peek.

The luncheon was followed by a business meeting, during which members were reminded of workshops every other Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marilyn Herman, 102 Spring Drive, for preparation of items to be sold at a charity bazaar planned in November.

A white elephant auction followed the meeting, and several members took a dip in the pool.

DAR celebrates Constitution Week

This week — Sept. 17-23 — has been declared Constitution Week by President Richard M. Nixon. The constitution is 186 years old this year.

Daughters of the American Revolution of all 50 states and the District of Columbia are using the occasion to bring to the people of the nation a challenge for each person to know the Constitution and its powers which safeguard America's liberties.

DAR members of the Sikeston Kings Highway Chapter urge that the Constitution be studied in homes, schools, churches, civic groups and portrayed throughout each community this week and every week.

Ann Landers

Fat people may be happy, but they die earlier

Dear Ann Landers: I have a word to say to the man who wrote to complain about his fat wife. "She's not the girl I married," he moans--- and right in the newspaper for millions of people to see. How many women do you think read that letter and wondered if it had been written by her old man? It ruined the day for a lot of wives. It ruined mine for sure.

I am a fat wife who has tried every diet under the sun. Nothing works. I can't help it because I'm fat. I was raised by wonderful Italian parents who had very little money, but Mama was a great cook. Food was our only entertainment. It was also our reward and our comfort. When things went wrong Mama would fix a beautiful dinner. She could make a banquet out of noodles, tomato sauce and a hunk of hog meat. Her desserts were fabulous.

Of course everybody in our family was overweight. When my husband married me he didn't seem to mind. In fact he always said he didn't like skinny girls with legs like toothpicks. He used to say, "You're all woman, Carmen. There's a lot of you to love."

If God didn't want us to enjoy food he wouldn't have given us taste buds. I love to eat and I look it. It's one of life's greatest pleasures.--- A Moose Who Likes Lasagna

Dear Carmen: Many people share your philosophy. They would rather eat (and drink) to their heart's content and not live so long--- until they have to face the day of reckoning. Then they sing a different tune. Fat people die sooner, and there's no getting around it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so upset I don't know what to do. If I write to you I might feel better. It's one of those things I can't talk about.

My husband and I have been trying to have a baby for five years. We've been to four different doctors and the story is the same. "Keep trying. No reason why you shouldn't have a family."

This afternoon I attended a large gathering. The following remarks were directed to me:

"When are you and Ned going to have a baby? Don't be so lazy!"

"Are you going to let your sister get ahead of you? She has two lovely children now, hasn't she? Or is it three?"

"I'll bet the reason you don't get pregnant is because you don't want to ruin that lovely figure."

I left the meeting early with a splitting headache. Why are people so thoughtless? Or cruel? Or dumb? What can I say when my heart is breaking and they make such insensitive remarks? Do you have any answers for me?--- Empty Nest

Dear E. N.: You don't need answers. You need strength, courage and self- control. Those women have no idea their remarks are so hurtful. They are dumbbells whose mouths and brains have become temporarily disconnected.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it all right for a mother to spank a kid the second time if he laughts the first time she spanks him? I am asking this question for a very important reason. Please answer in the paper. Thank you.--- Hot Seat

Dear H. S.: A kid who laughs when he gets spanked gives the mother the idea that the spanking is a joke. She might then decide to give him a more serious spanking which is not so funny. And usually it isn't.

Got those wedding bell blues over costs...guest list...what to wear...and other details? Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope (16c postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

White House trying to dampen rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office are trying to dampen press reports of a growing breach between President Nixon and Agnew that could lead to the latter's resignation.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren strongly denied on Wednesday that Nixon was applying pressure on Agnew to quit because of his involvement in a federal investigation of alleged political corruption in Maryland.

A special federal grand jury probing the allegations was scheduled to resume work today in Baltimore.

He said there was no "disposition by the White House or the people in the White House to force the resignation of the vice president, or that the White House is exerting pressure on the vice president to resign."

Warren also denied that the White House, as has been widely reported, was the fountainhead for reports that Agnew was contemplating resigning.

Following the bland "no comment" reaction of the previous day, Warren's disclaimer was welcomed in the Agnew camp, where there has been dismay, sometimes to the point of anger, over the White House's public response to the vice president's crisis.

Some Agnew backers contended that a policy of near-silence and only qualified support for him is designed to build pressure to force his resignation — or at least to distract attention from Watergate.

A spokesman for Agnew acknowledged on Wednesday that some individuals at the White House might be encou ging speculation about a esignation but said he coul 't believe it was being done as a matter of Nixon policy.

"Under no circumstances do we regard it as a conscious concoction of anybody in the White House," said Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson. He added that "this takes into account the things that are being said by some of Agnew's quote, friends, unquote."

Mass. Governor assured of ease in price controls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Massachusetts Gov. Francis W. Sargent says he has been assured by Nixon Administration officials that there will be some easing of federal price controls which have provoked protest shutdowns by retail gasoline dealers.

Returning from a trip to Washington, Sargent said Wednesday he had "assurance from the Cost of Living Council that they will ... grant relief to the retail gasoline operators."

The governor's hopeful forecast came as some Massachusetts gas dealers defied a court order and kept their stations closed for the second day of a planned three-day protest.

In California, hundreds of stations in the Santa Clara Valley began shutting off their gas pumps at 4:30 p.m., refusing to stay open later as a way of protesting the price controls.

Thirty-four U.S. senators urged the Cost of Living Council to permit gasoline and home heating oil retailers to pass cost increases on to consumers, not currently allowed under Phase 4 guidelines.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott and 13 other Republicans joined Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and 19 other Democrats in dispatching the request to the agency.

Meanwhile, Gulf Oil Co. announced it was boosting its wholesale gasoline prices by nine-tenths of a cent a gallon. Several other oil companies including Exxon, Mobil and Phillips earlier had announced one-cent per gallon increases.

Pension reform bill requires standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pension reform bill passed unanimously by the Senate Wednesday would require all private plans to meet these minimum standards:

ELIGIBILITY — 11 employes would have to be admitted when they reach age 30 and have one year of service in a company.

VESTING — An employe would be guaranteed 25 per cent vesting after five years of service, 5 per cent for each additional year for the next five years and 10 per cent additional for each of the next five years.

A plan could not require retirement later than age 65 and would have to offer survivor benefits to widows equal to 50 per cent of the husband's payment.

An employer would have to notify the Internal Revenue Service of the vested rights of an individual when he left his job. When the person applied for Social Security benefits upon retirement, the government would have to advise him of his private pension rights.

FUNDING — Employers would be required to put sufficient amounts into pension funds to meet pension liabilities incurred each year.

PORTABILITY — An employe who changed jobs could have his pension rights transferred to his new employer or his credits could be transferred to a new government corporation which would establish separate accounts for individual workers. This program would be voluntary with employers and workers.

PLAN TERMINATION INSURANCE — A separate corporation would be set up in the Labor Department to administer this, financed by a $1 per plan participant tax levied on employers.

The corporation would pay benefits when a company went out of business and its pension fund lacked sufficient assets or a fund could not meet its obligations for some other reason.

TAX INCENTIVES — Doctors, lawyers and other self-employed persons could put up to $7,500 a year in tax-exempt money into pension plans. Present limits are $2,500 a year up to 10 per cent of income.

Those employes not in private pension plans would be permitted to put up to $1,500 a year in tax-exempt funds into individual pension plans.

EXECUTIVE PENSIONS — Corporation executives would be limited to pensions of $75,000 a year out of funds built up with tax-exempt contributions.

Man jailed for assault hangs himself in cell

UNIVERSITY CITY, Mo. (AP)—A St. Louis County man was found hung in a city jail cell here Wednesday night, about two hours before his son died from injuries he received in a beating.

Police said they found Raymond E. Moore, 24, University City, hanging by his shirt which had been tied to a cell bar. Moore was arrested Wednesday on charges of aggravated assault in connection with the beating of his 3-year-old son, Raymond Moore Jr.

The child died at St. Louis Childrens' Hospital Wednesday night. A doctor said the young boy had suffered a broken finger, bruises and brain damage.

Moore was arrested at his home and brought to the jail. Another prisoner in Moore's cell said he was sleeping and that when he awoke, Moore was lying on his cot with the shirt tied around his neck. An officer bringing the prisoners' evening meal discovered Moore's body a short time later.

Officials of Henry Meldrum Post No. 114, The American Legion are opening the campaign to build up for the 29th annual Cotton Carnival, scheduled to be held Sept. 24-29, and first on the list of the important events will be the "Cotton Top King and Queen" contest, which will be held Wednesday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Any youngster, boy or girl, in the area, between the ages of three and six is eligible except he, or she, must have blond hair.

Parents interested in entering their youngsters in this contest are required to fill out the following blank and mail it to Tom Marshall, P. O. Box 673, Sikeston, Missouri 63801.

No entries will be accepted after Sept. 24.

Bernie Fall Festival planned

BERNIE — Plans are under way for the annual Fall Festival in Bernie to be held Oct. 1-6, with the big parade scheduled for Oct. 2 at 6 p.m.

The parade will assemble at the High school. Clubs, organizations and individuals are invited to participate in the parade by entering floats, decorated bicycles or costume dress. Prizes will be awarded to float winners and best decorated bicycles. Don Lee will serve as parade master.

The carnival will be set up behind the Bernie High School. The festival is sponsored annually by the Bernie Lions Club and participating merchants.

Reports of copters near Chaffee farm

CHAFFEE — There were unconfirmed sightings of two helicopters hovering over a farm east of here early Wednesday, Police Chief Danny Harrell said.

Patrolman Elmer Trost reported about 3:40 a.m. today that he had seen the lights of what appeared to be the helicopters at a distance from a vantage point along Highway 77, the chief said.

Chief Harrell said a radio check with Scott County Sheriff's office at Benton revealed that some of its deputies also had spotted what was believed to be a pair of helicopters but they, too, saw them from a distance.

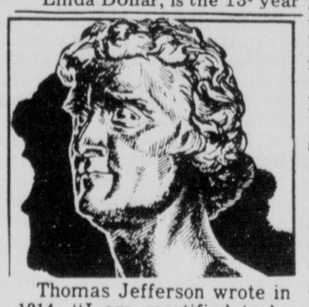
There have been numerous reports throughout the state of unidentified helicopters being seen during the night. Some have speculated they might be cattle rustlers attempting to get a bird's- eye view of prospective herds.

The Chaffee patrolman reported he had seen a bright light and red and green lights over a field, but the lights were so far away he could not determine over whose farm the helicopters were flying.

Chief Harrell also contacted Cape County sheriff's office at Jackson to inquire if any deputies there had spotted the helicopters. Sheriff's deputies at Jackson said they had not. However, they said they checked with the Federal Aviation Agency's flight service station at Cape Girardeau Municipal Airport and learned the FAA "had no knowledge" of any helicopters in the area.

Contestants seek Jr. Miss title

Featured in today's Daily Standard are 11 additional contestants who have completed applications for the Junior Miss competition. The 1973 Junior Miss will be crowned following the contest Sept. 27 during the American Legion Cotton Carnival.



Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1814, "I am mortified to be told that in America a question about the sale of a book can be carried before the civil magistrate ... Are we to have a censor whose imprimatur shall say what books may be sold, and what we may buy? ... Shall a layman, simple as ourselves, set up his reason as the rule for what we are to read? ... It is an insult to our citizens to question whether they are rational beings or not."

Dunklin residents not required to re-register

KENNETT — The possibility that Dunklin Countians and residents of some other; Bootheel counties might have to re- register under the new state- wide voter law was ended Sept. 5 with an attorney general's ruling.

The opinion, issued by the office of Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, holds that persons who are now legally registered to vote in Missouri do not have to re- register under the new law. The opinion had been requested by an official in Greene County, who said the wording of the new law seemed to require residents of all counties to register. No provision was made in the measure enacted by the last General Assembly for counties in which registration had already been inaugurated. The new law repeals sections in the old law on local option registration for counties and cities.

The opinion, requested by Charles LeCompete, prosecuting attorney for Greene County which encompasses Springfield, said the legislature did not intend to terminate previous registration but intended to expand the law to cover the entire state.

This intent, the opinion holds, is clear in the wording used to instruct the state to reimburse counties not having voter registration when the bill becomes effective Sept. 28.

Some state officials said prior to the ruling that all counties, regardless of status, would be forced to register. This meant that Dunklin County, which approved voter registration in 1970, would have to re - register its citizens. Pemiscot County inaugurated registration shortly after the state enacted an option measure, while New Madrid County adopted it last year.

Contract let for new dike

NEW MADRID — U. S. Representative Bill D. Burlison has announced that the Department of the Army has awarded a contract for stone dike construction in the amount of $643,100.

The Congressman explained that the funds would be utilized in work involving approximately 130,000 tons of stone to be used in this construction along the Mississippi River.

The location of the project is at Morrison Towhead, approximately one mile east of New Madrid.

17 schools to participate in Bluff festival

POPLAR BLUFF — Twenty high school marching bands from 17 Southeast Missouri school districts will participate here Sept. 25 in the 29th Annual Southeast Missouri Marching Band Festival.

Plans for the festival were announced this week by Bil Salyer, director of the Poplar Bluff Senior High School 'Sho-Me' Marching Band and co- host with George Salyer, Poplar Bluff Freshman Band Director, for the district event.

Described as the highlight of the marching band season for area high school musicians, the festival will be held at the Poplar Bluff Football Stadium.

The 20 bands will feature 1,250 musicians and 100 majorettes. They will perform in a musical extravaganza when they present their finale of the festival in a massed band show.

Thirteen of the participating bands will march and play their way the length of the football field in unit demonstrations. Seven of the bands, including the Poplar Bluff Freshmen and the 'Sho-Me' Marching Band, Gideon, Caruthersville, Malden, Twin Rivers and the Kennett Senior High School Band will present individual shows.

The stadium show will start at 7 p.m. Tickets are being offered for advance sale by the directors of the participating bands and at all Poplar Bluff music stores.

The performance date of Sept. 25, has been set with Oct. 2, as an alternate date in the event of inclement weather.

In addition to the festival program in the stadium, the bands will also participate in a mammoth "parade of bands" in downtown Poplar Bluff. The street parade is scheduled to start at 10:30 a.m.

Among the bands scheduled to participate are the Campbell, Caruthersville, Doniphan, Gideon, Holcomb, Malden, Parma, Richland, Senath- Hornersville, South Pemiscot, Twin Rivers, Portageville, Neelyville and Hayti Senior High School Marching Bands, The Kennett Freshman and Senior High School Bands, and the Poplar Bluff Freshman and Senior High School Bands.

"Li'l Abner," with an estimated following of 25,000,000 readers, is syndicated to 43 countries and translated into 13 languages. "Buck Rogers" at its peak, around 1934, appeared in 18 languages.

The cricket behaves somewhat like a thermometer; it chirps faster as the temperature rises.

AN OSTRICH CHICK so young he doesn't even have any sand to put his head in is given the onceover by Guy, an orangutan at the Wild Animal Park in San Diego, Calif. After about three months the South African bird will be old enough to join the 25 other ostriches there.

Fall Festival parade scheduled at Parma

PARMA — The Fall Festival parade will be held Sept. 27 at 7:30 in Parma. The parade will consist of floats, decorated bicycles, queen candidates and several bands.

Prizes will be awarded for the best floats. First place winner will receive $25; second place, $15; and third place $10. Persons or groups from other towns are welcome to enter floats in the parade and churches and civic organizations are urged to enter a float. Entries will be accepted until 10a.m. Sept. 27.

Prizes also will be given for the best decorated bicycles. First prize for the best decorated bicycle will be $5, second prize $3, and third place winner will receive $2.

Anyone interested in entering a float or bicycle should contact John Deason at Parma High School, telephone 357-4324, or at his residence, 357-4742.

Queen candidates have been elected to represent their class at the Parma schools. They are: Carol Stahl, seventh grade; Sherri Ashley, eighth grade; Carolyn Ledbetter, freshman; Carol Ramsey, sophomore; Sherry Atchley, junior; and Dawna Denson, senior. The Queen will be crowned Saturday night, Sept. 29. Votes will be one cent each and all money must be turned in by 9 p.m., Sept. 29.

Failure to override veto dims increase prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure by Congress to override President Nixon's veto of a bill raising the minimum wage has dimmed prospects for any increase this year.

Embittered labor leaders took a "no compromise" attitude on key provisions of the bill Wednesday after the House fell 23 votes short in its effort to override the veto.

The 259-164 vote killed a bill that would have raised the $1.60 an hour minimum to $2 this year and $2.20 next July 1, and extended minimum wage coverage to 6 million state and local government employes and a million household domestics.

Nixon called the proposed increases inflationary and objected to the added coverage. He also said failure to provide a lower wage rate for teenage workers would increase youth unemployment.

The President followed up his victory — his sixth sustained victory — with a request for Congress to draw a new bill to his specifications.

But AFL-CIO sources said there could be no compromise on the issues of extended coverage and a youth differential wage rate — the two provisions most responsible for the veto.

And Rep. John H. Dent, DPa., manager of the bill, wound up an emotional plea to the House to override the veto by saying he would leave Congress before he would support a bill that provided a subminimum wage for teenagers.

Dent said low-paid workers would be better off waiting until the next Congress in hopes the Democrats would pick up enough seats to override a veto, rather than accept a Nixon administration bill.

However, Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over minimum-wage legislation, said he would try to work out a compromise between Congress and the administration.

Newspaper strike delays play opening

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The first production scheduled this fall at the American Theatre has been postponed because of the St. Louis newspaper strike, the theater manager said Wednesday.

Manager Edward W. Steinhauer said the play, "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope," was postponed by producer Norman Keane, who felt there would not be adequate advertising without newspapers.

The play was to have started a 10-day, 14-performance stand Oct. 4. Steinhauer said the newspaper strike, which was in its 29th day Wednesday, could affect other productions if the city's two newspapers don't start publishing in the near future. The next play at the American Theatre, "Butley," is scheduled to begin Nov. 12.

Talks in the strike against the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and St. Louis Post-Dispatch broke down last week, and federal mediators said Wednesday that no further negotiations were scheduled.

Senate approves services bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $185 million medical services bill, to substitute for a similar measure vetoed by President Nixon, was approved by the Senate Wednesday.

The new measure includes the same amount of spending as the one the President vetoed, but deletes a provision which would have barred the administration from closing eight Public Health Service hospitals.

Battle of sexes

HOUSTON (AP) — They had to take down the "Men Only" signs in the press box at the Astrodome for tonight's $100,000 winner-take-all tennis match between Bobby Riggs and Billie Jean King.

There'll be a broad, er, lady—sorry, Gloria—in almost every other seat when they start batting the optic yellow balls around in the celebrated second Battle of the Sexes.

"I've never seen so many dames covering a sports event in my life," commented one gnarled old baseball writer in tennis sneakers. "But it's kinda fun."

Many of the big city newspapers—and some of the smaller ones—decided to platoon the big event. They not only sent male sports writer or several, but also a woman off the city side or the women's page to see that Billie Jean and her women's lib get a fair shake.

The radio and television people followed suit.

The place is full of modern day Carrie Nations weilding their own type of hatchets—rhetoric aimed at dulling the sledgehammer shots of the chauvinistic Riggs, who insists in a loud voice that all women should be kept pregnant and at home.

Riggs chased one of the lady reporters Carol Kleiman of the Chicago Tribune, off the practice court at the Astrodome bubble so he could hustle a pair of newsmen out of a $10 bet.

"The nerve of that guy," fumed Carol, who proceeded to turn her chagrin into type on the Tribune's page 1.

Joan Ryan is a tall, blonde reporter for the Washington Star-News, the wife of former quarterback Frank Ryan, who discovered that women were given no special treatment over men in the coverage of Billie Jean's activities.

Joan asked permission to go to Billie Jean's dressing room after the match.

"Sorry," said Billie Jean's secretary, Marilyn Barnett, "Nobody gets in the dressing room."

"What advantage is there for me to come all this way just to get the women's angle," sighed Joan.

Nora Ephron, slender, darkhaired former Esquire Magazine staffer who profiled Riggs' hustling proclivities in New York Magazine, arrived with $500 in small bills collected from women around New York to bet on Billie Jan.

Riggs covered the bet personally, peeling off eight $100 bills from a wad in his pocket that looked like audit time at the First National Bank.

Grace Lichtenstein of the New York Times' news side joined Neil Amdur, the paper's tennis specialist, in coverng the story. She immediately started counting how many candy bars and vitamin pills Billie Jean was taking to combat the recent blood deficiency in her blood.

The press corps numbered 300 by Wednesday night and was still growing. It is the largest ever to cover a tennis match—the largest by more than 200.

The biggest crowd ever to watch a tennis match was the 26,000 that crowded the enlarged stands at White City in Sydney, Australia, in 1954 when Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas won the Davis Cup back for America.

The press corps on that occasion numbered about a dozen. One of them was an American. None was a woman.

As they say: "You've come a long way, baby."

ATHENS, W. Va. (AP) — With Concord College quarterback Marshall Barker a doubtful starter for saturday's football game with Shepherd College, the coach plans to call on Barker's younger brother Ronnie to fill the void.

Big Red host Skins

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Coming off an impressive first game victory, the St. Louis Football Cardinals move quickly to a rugged three week assignment, starting Sunday with their home opener against the defending National Conference champion Washington Redskins.

Kickoff in Busch Memorial is set for 1:05 p.m. (CDT)

The Big Red, who scored a 34-23 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles last week in Philadelphia, will be meeting a Redskin team that opened its season with a 38-0 triumph over the San Diego Chargers, turning two fumble recoveries into touchdowns and intercepting four Charger passes.

The rugged schedule will continue after the Redskin game. The next week will put the Big Red in Dallas for a game with the Cowboys, last yaar's NFC runnerup. On October 7, St. Louis returns home to face Oakland, last year's AFC Western Division champion.

Against the Eagles, the Cardinals ran for 197 yards and passed for 195 more. Quarterback Jim Hart completed 17 of 29 passes for two touchdowns, while rookie running back Terry Metcalf gained 133 yards on 16 carries, including a 50-yard run on the Cardinals' second play from scrimmage.

Metcalf's counterpart at runningback, Donny Anderson, scored three touchdowns, including the Big Red's first two of the game. Mel Gray, who wound up the game with seven catches, then scored on a 40-yard pass from Hart to push the Cardinals ahead 21-0 with only 6:45 gone in the first period.

The Cardinals led at halftime, 24-6, but two fumbles and an interception enabled the Eagles to climb to 24-23 with six minutes left in the game. Using up five minutes on the clock, St. Louis produced a field goal by Jim Bakken for a 27-23 lead with 1:10 left.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Cardinals recovered an Eagle fumble, and on the next play, Anderson ran 26 yards for the game's final touchdown.

"I was pleased with our effort against Philadelphia," Cardinal coach Coryell said. "We had som bad breaks in the second half, but we never let up and never really stopped moving the football."

The coach cited the Big Red defense for fine work as well as the team's offensive line. "Terry Metcalf was good," he added, "and Donny Anderson gave a great effort -- he's a great player under pressure. Mel Gray did a fine job and Jim Hart was cool and collected."

The Cardinals will be home for three games in October, against Oakland, Philadelphia and the New York Giants.

MU looks for pass attack

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Virginia Cavaliers probably will try to pass heavily against the Missouri Tigers when the two teams collided Saturday in an intersectional football game.

The kickoff is set for 2:30 p.m., EDT.

Scott Gardner, Virginia's sophomore quarterback, passed for 106 yards and one touchdown in the Cavaliers' opening 16-0 victory over Virginia Military and for 165 yards and a touchdown in last week's 42-23 loss to 14th- ranked North Carolina State.

Virginia also has a fine runner in sophomore Raymond Keys.

Missouri, tied for 20th in the rankings, won its only start, a 17-0 decision over Mississippi. The Tigers displayed strong defense against the Rebels, permitting them to cross midfield only twice.

Missouri Coach Al Onofrio says he will not announce his starting tailback, Leroy Moss or Tommy Reamon, until close to game time. The two players have been waging a battle for the starting berth.

"Virginia's a dangerous football team," Onofrio says. "They have a good passer and have improved tremendously since last year."

Missouri has a new zone defense this season and has discarded most of the wishbone formation in favor of the power -I on offense.

Beagle trials

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Sunday, September 23rd, the Southeast Missouri Beagle Club will have their first sanction field trial, at the running grounds 10 miles northwest off Delta, Missouri, just off Route N.

The trial will begin at 8 a.m., with the 13- inch hounds running first to be followed by the 15 inch class. All winners will be awarded trophies.

Gary Harget of Dexter and Bob Harget of Poplar Bluff will serve as Judges.

Cards battle ump

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton breathed a sigh of relief. If there is one thing the Philadelphia Phillies left-hander doesn't want, it's to experience a 20- game defeat season.

Carlton avoided the ignominy Wednesday night, but a lot happened before he reached his 12th victory and first since Aug. 17. He beat the St. Louis Cardinasl 3-2, retiring pinch-hitter Tim McCarver for the last out on a line drive with the tying run at second.

The Cards, fighting for their lives in the National League East, battled Carlton, the Phillies and umpire Frank Pulli. Before it was over, Ken Reitz and Lou Brock were ejected.

Taking first things first, Carlton, who won 27 last season to win the Cy Young Award as the National League's top pitcher, is striving not to be the first pitcher to lose 20 in the next season since Alex Kellner of the old Philadelphia Athletics did it in the 1949-1950 season.

The 28- year old Carlton allowed 10 hits, struckout four and walked only one. He singled and scored in the fifth inning when the Phillies broke a 1-1 tie with a pair of runs that stood up. Carlton came home on a wild pitch. Del Unser singled home Denny Doyle who had doubled, for the insurance run.

Carlton has refused to alibi for his lost season, although he didn't take the usual care of himself last winter because of great demands on his time. He came to spring training and had a severe chest condition close to pneumonia. He had scars on his lungs. He never regained his strength.

Phillies' Manager Danny Ozark said Carlton had control of his sharp breaking pitches, a great slider and good command, and that he pitched with confidence and determination.

"The only time he let himself down," said Ozark, was pitching to Joe Torre with an 0-2 count in the ninth. He shouldn't have been anywhere near him."

Torre ripped a single and wound up scoring the Cardinals' second run on a double by Terry Hughes, the rookie's first major league extra base hit and rbi.

First base umpire Frank Pulli was incenssed over his run-ins with Reitz and Brock.

"Do me a favor and tell it like it is," he shouted to reporters after the game.

The first argument came in the sixth inning when Reitz tried to check his swing on a third strike pitch from Carlton.

Home plate umpire John Kibler asked Pulli for help, and the first base umpire waved the outthumb.

Reitz protested without success, and then took the field for the bottom of the sixth. He threw a warmup ball close to Pulli and then spit into the ground, which Pulli interpreted as a gesture at the umpire and threw Reitz out.

Reitz charged across the infield for Pulli, and was restrained by first baseman Joe Torre and other Cardinals. It appeared as if both Pulli and Reitz threw punches.

In the seventh inning, Brock grounded to third baseman Mike Schmidt and was called out on a close play.

"I let him have his have his say," Pulli related. "He headed toward second and turned and said. "It looks like the umps are cracking", I told him I didn't want to hear any of that, and he gave the choke sign. I run him."

Reitz would say only, "It just happened. I have nothing to say. Just leave it at that."

Someone said to Brock, "You don't get thrown out of many games do you Lou?"

Ryan fans 350th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nolan Ryan isn't satisfied.

He registered his 19th victory of the season Wednesday night, struck out seven batters to come within 28 of breaking the major league record, and pitched a five-hitter for his 24th complete game this year in California's 6-2 triumph over the Texas Rangers in the opener of a twi-night double-header.

...But he isn't satisfied.

"If I break the strikeout record and don't win 20 games, I'll be disappointed," said Ryan, who broke Rube Waddell's American League record for strikeouts in the third-inning. He fanned designated hitter Bill Sudakis on a low fastball for strikeout number 350— one more than the mark Waddell established with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1904.

In other American League games Wednesday, the Angels took the nightcap of the twinbill 9-4; the Boston Red Sox tripped the New York Yankees 3-1; the Oakland A's edged the Minnesota Twins 3-0; the Milwaukee Brewers clipped the Cleveland Indians 7-4; the Detroit Tigers bombed the Baltimore Orioles 10-1, and the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3 in 12 innings.

Red Sox 3, Yankees 1

It was a good night for Boston's Luis Tiant. "I threw good pitches, had good control, a good fastball, and good breaking pitches," Tiant said. The combination was good for a 3-1 triumph over the New Yorkers. Tiant struck out 10 and walked none to pick up his 19th victory of the season and 21st complete game.

A's 3, Twins 0

Vida Blue helped whittle down to three the A's "magic number" with his 19th victory of the season—a three-hit, 3-0 shutout over Minnesota. Any combination of Oakland victories and Kansas City defeats would bring the A's their third consecutive Western division title.

Tigers 10, Orioles 1

Aurelio Rodriguez lined a bases-loaded triple to score three runs and highlight a seven-run Detroit fifth inning as the Tigers blasted the pennantbound Orioles 10-1.

White Sox 4, Royals 3

Buddy Bradford's 12th-inning single scored Carlos May with the running run in Chicago's 4-3 decision over Kansas City. May had doubled to lead off the inning.

Tennis tourney

The increasing popularity of the sport of Tennis was shown earlier this week when tournament directors for the first Sikeston Open Tennis Tournament had to close entries.

Nearly 100 people will compete this weekend through the city where every available court will be put to use. Action gets underway Friday with the finals slated Sunday at the Country Club Courts.

State to save $8,000 on Goodrich contract

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state will save about $8,000 this year on a contract awarded to B.F. Goodrich, Akron, Ohio, for police pursuit tires used by the Missouri Highway Patrol, Robert L. James, director of the Office of Administration, said Monday.

"The major advantage to this contract is that it also allows law enforcement entities, county sheriffs and police departments under the state's cooperative procurement policies to order at state prices," James said.

B. F. Goodrich was the low bidder on lots of 50 tires at $32.85 per tire for the patrol.

Herbert Damron, director of procurement, said this represents about an $8,000 savings of the state on a specified quantity of 4,000. Goodrich supplied the tires last year on a no-contract basis in quantities of 200 at a price above $34.

Goodrich bid $34.67 on lots of less than 50. The only other bid, Damron said, came from Radial Tire Sales, West Plains, an independent dealer, at $35.99 per tire.

The retail price on the tires is $58, Damron said.

Only San Francisco, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh, and Newark still have streetcars.

1974 cars to get fewer miles to the gallon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency released Tuesday its 1974 Who's Who of Gasoline Guzzlers, showing that the season's new cars will get slightly fewer miles per gallon, on the average, than the 1973 models.

With some new cars not yet tested, EPA reported an overall average of 15.1 miles per gallon on the 376 vehicles checked, three-tenths of a mile less than the 1973 average.

The averages ranged from 24.4 miles per gallon for 2,000pound cars, to 15.3 mpg at 3,000 pounds, and on down to a low of 8.3 mpg in the heavyweight 5,500-pound class.

The most economical car tested was a 2,000-pound Honda Civic at 29.1 miles per gallon, followed by Toyota's Corolla-1 Couple and Sedan at 27.1 and 24.8.

Rock-bottom among the EPAtested cars was the 4,000-pound Ferrari-365 GTB-4 with a 268-cubic-inch engine, flaring one gallon of gasoline to glide a mere 6.4 miles.

Only a drop or two better was a 5,500-pound Oldsmobile Toronado with automatic transmission, whose 445-cubic-inch engine rolled it only 6.8 miles on one gallon.

EPA collects fuel-economy data while verifying antipollution performance in a test that simulates urban driving.

The agency issued its first gasoline-mileage listing on 1973 vehicles last April, to encourage fuel economy and thereby reduce pollution and ease the energy shortage.

For 1974 cars, EPA proposed the voluntary display, on new cars, of gasoline-mileage data by weight class and individual model. Most manufacturers reportedly intend to participate.

Within any production run, vehicles of identical design and equipment may vary widely in their actual on-the-road fuel economy, depending heavily on the habits of the drivers.

But EPA says that the test findings and averages provide at least a comparison of relative fuel economy characteristics that can be weighed by car-buyers.

As usual, sheer weight is the biggest mileage-stealer; as auto weight rises from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds, performance drops from the average 24.4 miles per gallon to 15.3, losing about one mile per gallon for every 100 extra pounds.

Above 3,000 pounds, the weight effect works less rapidly, with performance dropping less than half a mile per gallon for each 100 pounds.

The mileage-stickers displayed by participating manufacturers this fall were designed by EPA and will show, at least, the average fuel economy for each weight class and the weight class of the individual car.

As an optional feature, the sticker may also display the specific EPA-tested gasoline mileage for that particular model.

Here is a summary of the average fuel economy and top performers in each of the ten EPA weight classes:

82,000 pounds, average 24.4 miles per gallon: Honda Civic 29.1 mpg; Toyota Corolla-1 Coupe 27.1 and Sedan 24.8.

—2,250 pounds, average 21.5 mpg: Datsun B-210 manual transmission 24.9 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Sedan 22.6; Datsun B210 automatic 22.2.

—2,500 pounds, average 18.9 mpg; Subaru SW 22.7; Volkawagen Convertible-15 at 22.6 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Station Wagon 21.1.

Cuts of meat to bear new marking

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you buy a "his and Her steak" or a "Yankee pot roast" you will be able to tell what part of the animal it came from under a voluntary labeling plan announced by the meat industry.

The new program, unveiled with the government's blessing Monday by the National Livestock and Meat Board, was prompted by increasing complaints of confusing names for cuts of meat.

In New Jersey, for instance, inspectors found "deli roast" selling for $1.89 in one store earlier this year. Elsewhere the same cut, top round, was selling for $1.49 a pound.

David H. Stroud, president of the board, said its standardization program "will do two things: reduce shipper confusion and help consumers make wiser, more economical decisions."

In other food news, the government predicted another record crop year in 1974 but no general decline in retail prices.

Ane Consumers Union said it had tested six brands of condensed milk and found hazardous levels of lead contamination from solder used in making the cans. The Food and Drug Administration, however, said its own tests of the same brands showed the lead content well below the danger level.

In addition to requiring that fancifully named cuts be labeled to show where they come from on the animal, the new meat industry program calls for standardizing names for the different cuts, reducing their number from 1,000 to 300.

Two of the top three national food chains, A&P and Kroger, said they would comply. Safeway said it believes it is already in compliance.

The plan would require, for example, that "London Broil" be labeled to indicate whether it was shoulder steak, flank steak or plate steak. It makes a difference in how lean the meat is.

The Cost of Living Council endorsed the program in letters to chief executives of grocery chains.

Consumers Union said it tested two cans each of six brands of condensed milk: A&P, Borden Silver Cow, Carnation Velvetized, Food Fair, Grand Union Homogenized and Pet.

It said all were above the federal guideline of 0.5 parts lead per million parts of milk. The average level was 0.7, the consumer organization said.

The FDA said it tested 79 samples from 10 manufacturers, including the six tested by Consumers Union, and the highest level it found was 0.37.

"The FDA does not consider any brand of evaporated milk now on the market to be in violation of FDA rules for safety or in any way unfit for consumer use," the agency said.

State Fair to show deficit

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri State Fair in Sedalia will show a deficit for 1973, but it should be a smaller deficit than last year, says state fair secretary Ron Jones.

Jones said in a news conference Wednesday that as of now, the fair is $157,000 on the plus side for 1973 but there are some large bills to be paid for plumbing, electrical work and tent rentals.

Income for 1973, not counting state appropriations, amounts to $735,000, compared with $578,193 in expenses.

Jones said expenses for the 11-day fair were $99,315 less than in 1972. Income was $26,000 over September of last year.

At the end of the fiscal year last June 30, the fair ran a deficit of $360,391, not considering state appropriations in the total income. The deficit could range from $150,000 to $200,000 this year, according to Jones' figures.

Jones said fair income should be 72 per cent of the total expenses at the end of the current fiscal year, compared with 62.2 per cent last year.

Higher fees for space rental by concessionaires and renegotiation of the carnival contract contributed to the higher income this year, Jones said.

The money spent on entertainment was down by $20,000 to $30,000, Jones said, but salaries were up. The pay for help was raised from $1.25 to $1.65 per hour.

Fair attendance was 322,000, off by 21,000 from 1972. The 1972 total also was down from 1971, which was the biggest attendance year in the fair's history.

The state appropriated $1,018,528 to the Agriculture Department for fair operations in this fiscal year.

Jones and state Agriculture Commissioner James Boillot said it was too early to speculate on what changes might be needed next year.

Asked about changing the dates from late August, Jones said, "there's not a lot of flexibility," because of conflicts with fairs in other states.

Pemiscot property values assessed at $40,968,000

CARUTHERSVILLE — In Pemiscot County, where property taxes are the principal source of revenue for local government needs, the assessed value of property subject to such taxes amounted to $40,968,000 in 1972, according to the U. S. Census Bureau.

The figure was recently released in the bureau's "1972 Census of Governments" which shows results of a nationwide survey of state and local government operations. The survey is made every five years. The total reported five years ago for Pemiscot County was $36,844,000.

The gain of more than $4 million represents an increase of 11 per cent over the five-year period. Elsewhere in the United States, assessments went up an average of 43 per cent and 22 per cent in the state of Missouri.

Assessed valuations are not to be mistaken for true market values, it is noted, since property is assessed in most communities for tax purposes at something less than actual value.

The tax rate applied to the assessed value is the other factor in determining how big the tax bills are.

In terms of population, the tax base in Pemiscot County was equivalent last year to $1,736 in taxable property per local resident.

Five years ago, it was $1,123 per resident.

Nationally, the assessed valuation of locally taxable property has jumped from its 1967 figure of $442 billion to a total of $641 billion.

Property taxes collected by local communities in the past year amounted to $36.7 billion, a 46 per cent increase over the $25.2 billion collected five years ago.

Justice Dept. seeks minimum fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is setting out to shatter a 178-year-old tradition of America's law profession — the minimum fees recommended by hundreds of bar associations.

The move was to be announced today by one of the department's top trust-busters, Deputy Asst. Atty. Gen. Bruce B. Wilson, in testimony to a House Judiciary subcommittee.

Wilson disclosed in an interview beforehand that investigations are underway into a number of bar associations. He estimated that 600 to 700 state or local groups circulate fee guidelines.

State associations in Florida, Michigan, Massachusetts and some local groups in Pennsylvania recently have announced they would abandon them.

"In reality," Wilson said, in his prepared testimony, "These fee arrangements can be viewed as little more than classic cartel price fixing. They are per se violations of the antitrust laws."

The position of the American Bar Association is that no attorney is compelled to follow the recommendations of his local bar and that antitrust laws therefore do not apply.

But Wilson declared that the fee schedules — usually drawn up by a local bar committee and sometimes voted upon by the entire membership — "are often more than mere suggestions. They are often accompanied by the threat of disciplinary action for those who systematically choose to undercut the suggested fee."

The antitrust division, he said in the interview, would likely begin its assault upon the practice by a civil suit rather than criminal action — "in order for the message to get through."

Minimum fees, Wilson noted, have been followed by the nation's attorneys ever since 1795 — when lawyers in Rhode Island were prohibited from charging anything less than $1 for their services.

Contract approval ends lime strike

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo. (AP)—A strike that cramped production at the Mississippi Lime Co. plant here for 11-weeks has ended following the ratification of a new three-year contract by the memberships of two unions.

The pact was approved by members of Glassworkers Union Local 169 and Laborers Local 829 at joint meetings Wednesday.

A spokesman for the unions said the new contract calls for an 87 cent an hour increase over three years. The workers were receiving $3.40 hourly under their old contract, which expired June 30. That base will be increased by 30 cents the first year, 24 cents the second year and 33 cents the third year of the new agreement.

The union spokesman said the contract also includes improvements in pensions,holiday pay and an agreement on hospitalization insurance.

The company will determine when the employes will return to their jobs, the union spokesman said.

Some production and shipping was carried out by supervisory personnel during the strike. The two unions represent about 700 of the plant's 900 employes.

Manpower shortage hurts Cairo bureau

CAIRO — The U. S. Weather Bureau in Cairo has severely curtailed its activities and various Cairo organizaioions are attempting to mount campaigns to restore it to its original importance and manning.

In a recent interview, meteorologist in charge of the station, Haydn Fox, explained the change in activities and the reasons behind the curtailment.

Since December when Truman Dingledein retired as observer at the station Fox and Mrs. Ruby Krenning have been manning the station alone.

And Mrs. Krenning, who is on Social Security, has worked so many hours that those payments are now in jeopardy because of her salary at the station.

The hours were spent at the station during the record setting flood season when Fox himself worked 26 hours at a time with no rest or sleep.

He has been working at the station 11 to 12 hours during the weekdays and as many as eight on the weekends.

Until recently a freeze had been placed on federal hiring but that has been lifted. The shortage of personnel for the U. S. Weather Bureau has continued, Fox said.

Most weathermen gained their experience during World War II and the Korean Conflict through the Air Weather Service.

These men are reaching retirement age.

Fox is eligible for retirement Oct. 22. He says he is not going to take it just now, but he is eligible. Many are taking retirement.

The more recent graduates of weather schools are not continuing to use the skills the Armed Services have taught them and are returning to private business.

Because of this manpower shortage, Fox said, the river observations and forecasting which was done at the Cairo station when the river was below 30 feet on the Cairo gauge is now divided between four stations — St. Louis, Kansas City, Evansville, Ind., and Knoxville, Tenn.

Kansas City will do all the actual forecasting with the other stations providing the observations.

When the river reached above 30 feet, Kansas City was in charge of the forecasting.

However, oldtimers tend to trust the Cairo office forecasting more than that of Kansas City.

During the recent floods, Fox admitted, he received calls daily from Tiptonville, Tenn., Ripley, Tenn., Pittsburgh, Pa., and from as far away as Arkansas.

Oftentimes, local observations and a "feel" for the river can more than compensate for the figures fed into the Kansas City computer.

Rivermen have been dismayed by the change since now instead of being able to receive information about river levels from a local telephone number, a long distance call must be placed to Kansas City.

Another curtailment involves the severe weather network.

At one time, the Cairo station had jurisdiction over severe weather as far north as West Frankfort.

In the latest change, the counties of Jackson, Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Pope and Hardin were removed from the local jurisdiction and Fox was left in charge of Alexander, Pualski, Massac, Union and Johnson counties in Illinois; Scott, Cape, and Mississippi counties in Missouri and Ballard Carlisle, Hickman, Fulton and McCracken counties in Kentucky.

Missouri was originally slated to be removed from his jurisdiction but that move was cancelled.

The major problems revolve around the change in Jackson County's central office.

Civil defense organizations throughout the Southern Illinois area have formed a radio network which enables them to contact each other during disasters.

When Jackson County was taken from the local district and placed in the St. Louis district, it lost that radio network contact.

Jackson County now cannot reach its district headquarters by radio and if normal means of communication are cut off, the county will be isolated from the source of its information.

Now during times of possible severe weather, which includes flash floods and tornadoes, the station is unmanned until a severe storm has been spotted by the Kansas City office.

At that time, Fox is called at home and will come to the local office and staff that station until the crisis has passed.

Radar covers this area from several locations.

Primary coverage by radar is provided through St. Louis and Evansville. But Fox adds that Nashville and Memphis can also read the Cairo area on their radar.

However, although Fox would not comment on the extent of idstortion, radar often becomes distorted through atmospheric conditions when attempting to examine areas a great distance from the center of the radar scope.

Fox adds that he now is eligible for five weeks of vacation a year.

To cover for him in his absence, (part of which he plans for October) the weather service will send a meteorologist from St. Louis. The man understandably will not know local conditions as well as Fox.

The effect which the downgrading of the weather station will have has yet to be fully understood.

Rivermen feel it makes their information about the river levels more difficult to obtain.

Civil defense men feel that the radio network they have worked so hard to establish and maintain has also been hurt by the recent changes.

The head of the U. S. Corps of Engineer office in Cairo admits that he and his predecessor used Fox's estimates of flood stages to plan their activities during the recent flooding.

Dave Cash, now head of the office, admitted that the changes at the office would "probably slow our procedures considerably" during times of crises when speed is often essential.

Stanley Martin who preceded Cash at the Cairo office is now stationed in Memphis with the Corps.

Cairo merchants fear that the recent moves might signal the end of the station here, although Fox says he has received absolutely no indication that this is in the offing.

The Cairo Chamber of Commerce is planning to contact state and federal officials, urging them to work toward obtaining more manning and more work for the Cairo station.

Just what can be done or ought to be done apparently still remains a question.

How a girl can tell her parents she wants to join the Army
You're graduating from high school and not going to college. You're not even sure you know what you want to do. Or can do.
Tell your parents you can find out in today's Army. Of the more than 300 good jobs you may do well in. And that we'll pay you well while you learn.
And don't forget the benefits that go with the job. Free meals, housing, medical and dental care. The 30 days paid vacation you'll get every year.
Tell them you can continue your education, too. Take special courses. Even go for your college degree. And that we'll pay for most of it.
And if you need more good reasons, call or see your local Army Representative.
Today's Army wants to join you.

Earl Braswell

Philo Farnsworth was a 16 year old high school student in Idaho when he worked out the principles to develop electronic television. The year was 1922 and radio was just beginning to expand. Believing that if sound waves could be sent through the air waves, pictures could too. He showed his theory and figures to his high school superintendent Justin Holman. Years later, after transmission of pictures through the air became a reality, Farnsworth's application for a patent was jeopardized by a rival claim. Justin Holman was called as a witness. He sketched the apparatus earlier conceived by his former student and repeated in detail the ideas Farnsworth had expounded in Idaho. As a result, the patent for the camera-tube dissector went to the man who had conceived it in high school, Philo Farnsworth.

Through another patended process is an extraordinary appliance which removes the invisible problem causing solids and pollutants found in today's tap water. The water refiner has an exclusive five cycle patented process which is the only efficient, effective way to keep filtering media fresh and clean for a long life. With only three moving parts, the five cycle patent process assures you of dependable service, less salt use, and more Refined Water at 30 per cent lower cost For more information call

First Lt. Martin A. Burns, 37 years old, formerly of Charleston, died at Camp Ellis, Peoria, Ill., Wednesday following an accidental rifle wound received in maneuvers Tuesday.

Three brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glastetter of Oran, are all serving in the armed forces on foreign soil. They are Cpl. Harold Glastetter in North Africa; Pfc. Lester Glastetter in Alaska; and Seaman Gilbert Glastetter who is somewhere in the South Pacific.

The Rev. D. D. MacAdams, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, has resigned his duties with the church and has been granted a year's leave of absence by the church. The family will move to Columbia, the first of October, where Mr. MacAdams will work with the War Manpower Commission and be attached to the Columbia office. Bartley S. Schwegler, who has been filling the pulpit at the church, will continue his work there.

Mrs. S. J. Reese will reach her 91st birthday on September 27, but because of illness no observance will be made of the occasion. Mrs. Reese is cared for by her daughter, Miss Freda Reese, who resides with her at the family home, 222 Ruth street.

Farm Band out to save the world

SUMMERTOWN, Tenn. (AP) — Above all, The Farm Band's music is homespun. They sing hard, down-to-earth, country rock, written and recorded on their Tennessee commune.

Stephen Gaskin and some 200 religious followers migrated to Tennessee from San Fkrancisco two years ago. Within a year, the commune had spawned The Farm Bank, which has recorded two albums.

Their first album was produced in April 1972 by country music singer Claude Gray on the Million label. The second, released this summer under a Farm Records label, was recorded right on the farm.

Gaskin has referred to the band as a gospel group and something like a Salvation Army band. Musically, they are neither.

Their music sounds like Seatrain, less polished but with much of the same feeling to their songs.

Seven musicians plus Gaskin made up the band. They use rhythm, lead and bass guitars, plane, organ and occasionally a fiddle. All seven members sing, including Linda and Kaymarie, the band's two women.

The 600-odd persons who dwell at Gaskin's commune consider themselves his students, and The Farm Band's music reflects this.

Several times a year the band, plus families and camp followers, leaves Tennessee in their Scena-Cruser bus for free concert tours across the country.

The purpose is painted in large letters across the front of the bus: "We're out to Save the World!"

A concert starts with a set by the band. Then Gaskin talks. No two gigs are the same, largely because Gaskin talks about whatever is on his mind that day.

"This band plays no requests," Gaskin ksays, and it is easy to see why. All their music and lyrics are original, written and worked out on tour and back at the farm.

The lyrics are simple, full of love, peace and life down in the country. In their latest album, "Up In Your Thing," a song written by Philip and Peter Schweitzer goes:

"She givin' me a love that's such revelation

What's the law?

The case of the perplexed lady

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Seena met Stan at an intersection, but there was nothing social in their meeting. As Seena approached the intersection, she saw a glaring red traffic signal that clearly demanded that she stop her vehicle. But standing in the middle of the intersection was a big and burly police officer who clearly indicated that she should keep going.

Perplexed, Seena quickly decided that the police officer looked meaner than the traffic light and kept going. Unfortunately, as Stan approached the same intersection from a side street, with the green traffic signal in his favor, he couldn't see the police officer.

The result? The ensuing meeting of Seena and Stan in the middle of the intersection left both Stan and his car in first-crash condition. And he sued Seens for the necessary repairs to both himself and his vehicle.

"What's he want from me?" questioned Seena in court, more perplexed than before. "I only did what the cop told me to do. And anybody knows you don't argue with a cop."

"If he had told her to jump off a bridge," was Stan's answer, "she wouldn't have done that. And driving through a red traffic signal can be just as dangerous, if not more so. The fact is, the cop was just as careless as she was."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold perplexed Seena liable for the repair to Stan and his car?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a motorist has a right to rely upon a traffic officer who gives directions contrary to a traffic signal without being deemed negligent for doing so.

AMERICAN LEGION COTTON CARNIVAL

Entries are solicited from Schools, Business, Commercial Groups and Service Clubs, and from organizations and groups having floats of a comic theme for the big parade to be held on Saturday Morning, Sept. 29th., beginning at 10:30, STARTS PROMPTLY. The entrance of unsolicited and non-decorated equipment or vehicles is not desired.

There will be three (3) Prize Award Classes - $100.00, $75.00, and $50.00. Decision of judges will be final.

All entries must be in the hands of the Parade Chairman Bill Cole or Parade Marshal Hank Switala, on or before September 26, 1973.

All floats and entries shall be physically identified as to name of participating group to be eligible for any prize. Floats or entries do not necessarily have to portray the Cotton Carnival theme. However, every possible reference to the Cotton and its uses will naturally publicize one of SEMO's top products and industries.

All floats should be motor driven or motor drawn. Floats will be judged on originality, design, and attractiveness. Nothing shall be thrown or distributed from any vehicle within the parade.

All entries shall assemble North of Tanner Street on North Ranney Street not later than 9:45 AM, on the morning of September 29th. Positions in the parade will be designated by the Parade Marshal and announced thru courtesy of The Daily Standard, prior to September 28th.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1973. There are 102 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1933, a hurricane swept over parts of New Jersey, New York state and New England, taking nearly 700 lives.

On this date—

In 480 B.C. Greeks defeated the Persians in the naval battle of Salamis in the Aegean sea.

In 1519, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, set out from Spain with five ships on his global voyage to find a western passage to the Indies.

In 1797, the American frigate "Old Ironsides" was launched at the Boston Navy Yard.

In 1870, the national unification of Italy was achieved.
